

A Place to Hide

One of the most unforgettable experiences you'll ever have on your Tasimba safari will be in the brand new "hide" at our Linkwasha camp. Quietly you will climb down a few steps into a room, your guide will open the hatches and incredibly you will find yourself at eye level to the waterhole – just a mere few feet away.

In hushed silence you will watch the animals come down to drink, totally oblivious to your presence. You'll see the hooves of the zebra, wildebeest, impala and other wildlife sink into the muddy edge, their parched tongues flick out for a hasty drink, then tense with them when you see their muscles ripple and tighten as they sense potential danger. It will take your breath away!

In the distance you may see a dusty cloud on the horizon, a signal of a massive herd of cape buffalo on their way to the waterhole.

Meantime though a family of elephants have arrived. From your vantage point they tower above you and you realize just how huge and magnificent these beautiful creatures really are.

For a mesmerizing close encounter with wild and bird life, spend time in a hide. Click here to watch just one of many fantastic hide experiences: <https://youtu.be/usy7AbqMbW0>

Twice daily at Linkwasha you'll have wonderful encounters with animals in the wilderness from the 4X4 vehicles. You will never get the intimate closeness though that you will experience from the hide. Here's where you are likely to get the absolute best wildlife photos of your amazing Tasimba week. You'll wish you could stay for hours!

A Different Hide

On your Tasimba safari there's a different kind of hide that we'll visit as well. This one isn't as well camouflaged as the sunken room in front of camp but it's also by a waterhole, known as Scott's Pan. It's a platform hide in an area so tranquil that you can sit and watch for hours, the abundant bird and wildlife.

You will be spellbound by the profound peace of the wilderness and in thrall of the silent ebb and flow of countless species living their lives as they have for millennia. Disconnected from the modern world never will you feel so connected to the beauty and wonder of nature. Tasimba – so much more than just a safari!
